Remini

The Furncare Dementia Collection

Dementia is not a disease

The prevalence of the symptoms collectively referred to as dementia are on the increase¹. By 2050, it's forecast that 131.5 million people will be affected.

Furncare has worked with leading academics and experts in the field to develop Remini. This exclusive range of bedroom furniture and furnishings addresses the challenges faced by those with dementia in residential homes and assisted living environments.

Definition & Contrast

Remini features distinctive new Admonere cabinets. For those with dementia, spatial orientation and understanding shapes can be challenging and frustrating. That's why special cut-outs are built-in, enabling users to see what's inside without having to open doors or drawers. With rounded edges and safe, soft-close drawers, all vertical faces are a smooth matt grey, whilst horizontal surfaces are natural oak. This distinction, and the contrast it provides, is invaluable too.

Coordinated soft furnishings

Contrast can help to reduce the confusion experienced by dementia sufferers, making wayfinding and decision-making easier. This includes curtains, soft furnishings and upholstery. All fabrics in the Remini Collection are fire retardant, water and stain resistant and have been coordinated. A minimum contrast of 30% light reflective value (LRV) in each room scheme provides helpful definition to chairs, whilst contrast piping on cushions helps residents distinguish shapes more easily too.

Curtains & Blinds Measuring Guide

A quick guide to measuring up for curtains

How to calculate the drop

Getting the drop of your curtains right is important – if they are too short it is very difficult to make adjustments and the curtains will often have to be entirely remade.

1. Decide where you want the curtains to finish – below sill or floor length.
2. Take note of any possible obstructions such as radiators and beams.
3. For standard below sill curtains, measure from the top of pole/track to the window sill, then add on 100-150mm to the measurement (unless there is an obstruction below the sill in which case measure to this point).
4. For floor length curtains, measure from the top of pole/track to the floor, then subtract 15mm to allow for clearance.

How to measure the width

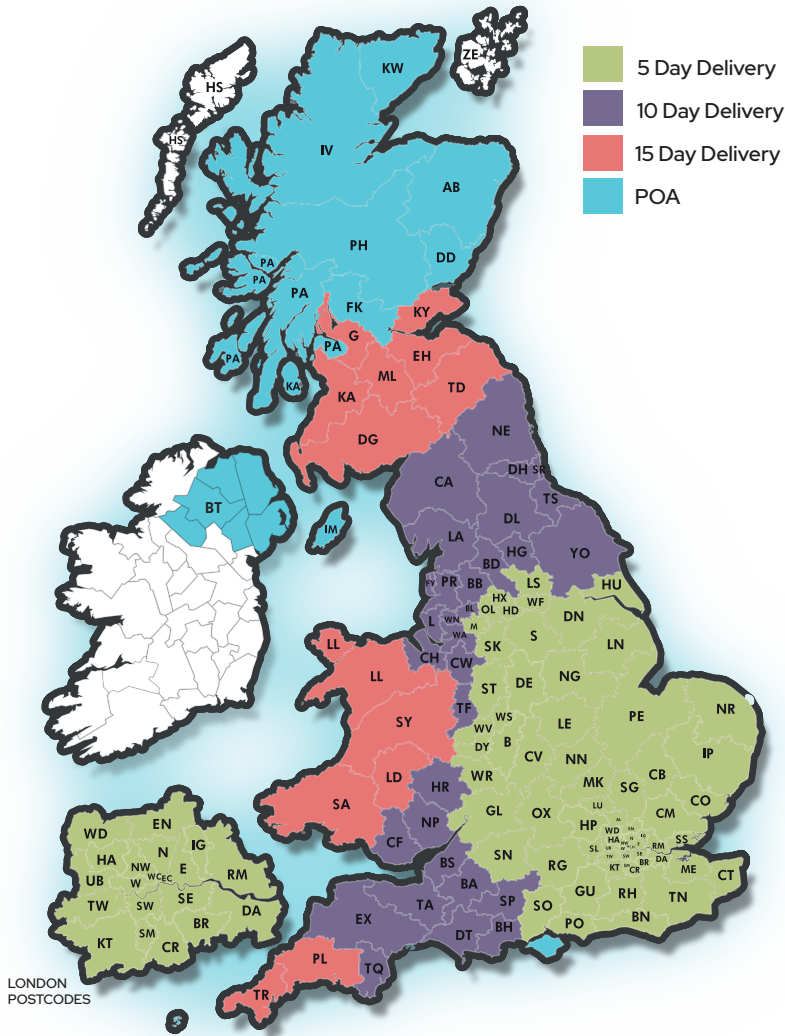

1. Measuring the existing curtain pole/track is the easiest way to take the width measurement.
2. If this isn't in place, measure the window/door width and add on 100-150mm each side to make sure that the curtains will adequately cover the window.

If you are installing a pole/track it is standard to position this 100-150mm above the window and this would need to be calculated into the curtain drop.
